ALLEGED LEADER OF SEDITIONISTS IS FOUND DEAD

Body of Gunther Ernecke Hanging in Basement of N. Y. Apartment

New York, April 13—(AP)—Claus Gunther Ernecke, 36, one of 17 defendants on trial in Brooklyn federal court on sedition charges, was found hanged today in the cellar of an apartment building. He had been missing since yesterday when he failed to appear at the trial.

Judge Marcus B. Campbell ordered Ernecke's $7,500 bond forfeited when he failed to appear despite the pleas of his lawyer that he felt Ernecke's absence was involuntary.

The attorney, former Magistrate Leo Healy, told the court his client had received several death threats and was worried over them. Healy said Ernecke had only $1.20 "to his name" when he last saw him on Thursday.

Ernecke's body was found by Michael O'Neill, superintendent of the apartment building at 283 Parkside avenue, Brooklyn. It was identified by an automobile driver's license and by police.

Healy said today, "I was afraid something like that might happen. He was terribly despondent."

Had Seemed Frantic

The attorney said Ernecke had seemed frantic when he told him of threats against his life.

"What'll I do? What'll I do?" he kept telling me. He walked up and down, up and down, talking about the case and the threats against his life. I said to him, 'Don't let it bother you. Take it easy. Be calm. Nothing's going to happen to you'."

But Ernecke, according to the lawyer, was not easily persuaded that he was safe.

"Look here," I said to him, "Healy continued, "people who are going to kill you don't make threats. They go ahead and kill you." Oh, it was terrible, watching the poor fellow. I showed him threatening letters I had received. I told him they had threatened to kidnap my two little children, but that didn't seem to convince him."

Ernecke's body was suspended by a rope from some ceiling pipes. The building is just around a corner from where he lived at 29 Hawthorne street with Macklin Boettger, another defendant.

Portrayed as Leader

The trial was adjourned Wednesday when Dennis Healy, principal witness for the government, fainted after three days of cross-examination by Ernecke's attorney.

When it resumed yesterday Healy was still too ill to continue his testimony. It was then that Judge Campbell ordered Ernecke's bail forfeited and issued a bench warrant for his arrest.

Healy, the witness, had portrayed Ernecke as one of the leaders in the alleged plot to overthrow the government, and had testified that the German had told him he would like to fight against "Jewish refugee Americans".

Allies Can Order World's Fastest Attack Bombers

Washington, April 13—(AP)—Great Britain and France were given official permission by the war department today to place orders for a new-model Douglas attack-bomber believed to be the world's fastest of the type.

It was the fourth type of army plane released for sale abroad under the administration's relaxed export policy.

A two-motor craft, the attack bomber is credited with a top speed approaching 400 miles an hour, rivaling that of normally-faster pursuit planes.

Designed largely to harass enemy troops and nearby military objectives, it bristles with machine-guns and can carry a heavy bomb-load and chemicals.

Other planes released for sale abroad, under conditions by which the Air Corps expects to obtain more advanced models at a later date, were all fighters, built primarily to cope with enemy bombers. They were the Lockheed two-motor P-38, Bell 0-39 and Curtiss P-40 D. Aviation quarters understood that still other army and navy planes would be made available shortly for sale abroad, minus equipment which the war department considers secret.

The new Douglas attack-bomber was described as advanced in design and performance over a similar craft which the French government has ordered from the hundreds.

Norse Minister Confers With Roosevelt Today

Washington, April 13—(AP)—Wilhelm M. De Morgenstierne, Norwegian minister, conferred with President Roosevelt at the White House today.

As he emerged, the minister declined to disclose what matters he had taken up, but said he wanted to emphasize to reporters that the only legally-constituted government in Norway was that of Prime Minister Nygaardsvold, his cabinet, the king and the storting (parliament).

The minister said that this government setup had the unanimous support of the people and had been given a unanimous vote of confidence by the 150 members of the storting even since the invasion of Norway by Germany.

Fish Change Habits

Buckingham, Va., Apr. 13—(AP)—James River catfish, with a reputation for truculence and bigness, have quit making news by spitting in fishermen's eyes. They've gone chasing rabbits.

That is the explanation given by sportsman John Wood for the discovery of a half-grown rabbit in the stomach of a six-and-a-half pound catfish he pulled out of the river.

CRASH NEAR POLO
(Telegraph Special Service)
Polo, April 13—Mrs. Jennie Sheller of Sterling suffered a broken arm, which was treated by a Polo surgeon, when an automobile, in which she and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hubbard, also of Sterling, were passengers collided with one driven by Milton Noakes, near Polo, at the corner near the Robert Copenhagen farm on the Old Town road, west of Polo at 10 o'clock Friday night. The cars were badly damaged.

N.Y. Committee's Action May Hurt Dewey Candidacy
Albany, N. Y., April 13—(AP)—Influential and suddenly-crystallized hostility to Thomas E. Dewey's presidential candidacy split New York Republicans wide open today and threatened to cut deep into home-state support of the Manhattan district attorney.

The controversy was fired by the G. O. P. state committee's chastisement yesterday of National Committeeman Kenneth F. Simpson, a hitherto unenthusiastic Dewey supporter, by voting 209 to 69 for selection of his successor before the national convention at which his term expires.

Some leading Republicans privately viewed as a blow to Dewey's candidacy in other states the open break with one of New York's two national party representatives.

Backers of Frank Gannett, another New York bidder for the GOP nomination, expressed "hope" immediately of winning all or most of the 23 delegates from Dewey's home county of New York—where Simpson is party chairman.

ON AIR SUNDAY

Two young Dixon musicians, Winston Atkins and Marlene Burns, will be heard over radio station WENR, during the Morris B. Sachs hour, between 5 and 6 o'clock Sunday afternoon. The program, during which Winston will play the vibra harp, and Marlene, the piano, will be broadcast from the Chicago Civic Opera house.

Time More Important
Further, in war, time is even more important than money; it is impossible to measure in terms of cash the time required to turn out replacements for destroyed aircraft.

British and French factories have been operating at full speed since the war started to try to establish numerical superiority over the Germans. They have anticipated also substantial aid from mass orders placed with American plants.

The anti-aircraft losses suffered thus far by all belligerents are only a fraction of losses expected in the event of unrestricted war in the air. According to some military estimates, half of all air forces engaged in "total war" probably would be destroyed in a single month.

The same crowd is perfecting plans to do in Mexico the same thing they did in Spain", the chairman added.

Their strategy he continued, was to seek victory in Mexico's national election next July and, that failing to resort to force.

"I know", Dies said "that German agents and communist agents are active in Mexico now. I think we'll be able to develop this fully".

Pending hearings on this subject before his committee, which was in recess today, Dies called on the justice department to "be prepared to deter any attempts to recruit for this Mexican campaign".

The new Douglas attack-bomber was described as advanced in design and performance over a similar craft which the French government has ordered from the hundreds.

RELATED VISIT OF WINTER MAY BE NEARING END

At Least Seven Deaths Laid to Flareback of Cold Weather

By The Associated Press

To be sure that all of the more than 10,000 persons whom Chamber of Commerce and city officials are certain are residents of the city of Dixon are enumerated in the federal census now under way, President Walter C. Knack of the Chamber called on Mrs. Loretta Grant, district supervisor of the census, at her office in Freeport Friday afternoon in an effort to secure an extension of time for the enumeration, which is scheduled to end Tuesday.

Inasmuch as the proration of the state's refund of motor fuel tax is based on the federal census figures, the Dixon officials are anxious that every person living within the city limits be counted, as the state refunds $1.50 per year for each resident of the city. The enumerators for the city are doing all in their power to count everyone before Tuesday night, but it is feared many will be missed, and any resident who has not been called upon by a census taker is asked to call either City Clerk Wayne Smith, phone 97, or the Chamber of Commerce, 26.

Promises Cooperation
Mr. Knack was well received by Mrs. Grant, who was unable to grant any extension of time for the census count here. However, she pledged the Dixon man that when the count is completed and recorded, copies will be furnished the Chamber of Commerce and The Evening Telegraph, and if study of the figures bears out the fear that the whole population of the city has not been recorded, leave to file a complaint will be given, the supervisors will investigate the items of the complaint, and if they are well founded she will order a recheck of the Dixon population.

Mayor Slothrop has offered the use of the police department in seeing that every Dixonite is counted.

Temperature Moderates

Nebraska temperatures rose to the low fifties yesterday after touching two degrees above zero in the extreme west with still higher readings forecast. Iowa likewise reported moderating weather after two days of sub-freezing temperatures.

Meanwhile, warmer weather to the northwest indicated normal spring temperatures were on the way back and weather forecaster J. R. Lloyd at Kansas City ventured the prediction they would remain this time.

Sub-zeroes

Montana and Wyoming usually the cradle of cold waves, were comparatively warm, with temperatures in the upper fifties and sixties.

While the east was battling heavy snow-drifts, Pacific states residents tried to remain comfortable under such temperatures as these: 103 at Anaheim, Calif.; 102 at Yuma, Ariz.; 100 at El Centro, Calif.; 94 at Los Angeles; 80 at San Francisco and 83 at Seattle, the latter a heat record for April 12.

The brunt of the cold wave was felt from Indiana to New York.

A woman and two small boys were found dead near New Market, Ind., apparently victims of exposure, a physician said.

The Last Straw

Omaha, Neb., April 13—(AP)—Mrs. Lee Felthauer forgave her husband when he broke her arm 12 years ago, she testified in her divorce suit.

She forgave him for an eye cut that required three stitches eight years ago. Three years ago he broke her nose, but their three children kept them together, she said. Once he cracked her hip bone.

"Last January", she continued, "he threw me across the davenport so hard he cracked three vertebrae in my back and I had to spend several weeks in the county hospital. He got 60 days for that".

Then she sued for divorce. Judge Frank Dineen gave her a divorce, $15 a week alimony, and enjoined her husband from molesting her. The husband did not contest.

Six Meet Tragic Ends in Traffic Crashes in Night

Chicago, April 13—(AP)—A speeding automobile crashed headlong into a tree in suburban Glen Ellyn early today, killing Robert McDonald, 24; Wesley Geasey, 19, and Philip Hagland, 17.

Members of the Glen Ellyn police department said the car was being pursued by a police car because it was speeding and did not carry license plates.

The automobile struck the tree with such force that the motor was thrown 90 feet.

Police said McDonald who lived at West Chicago, was the driver of the car. Geasey and Hagland lived in Glen Ellyn.

CROSSING FATALITY

East St. Louis, Ill., April 13—(AP)—A truck crashed into a moving freight train last night, killing the driver, and the impact toppled over a boxcar and crushed a railroad switchman to death.

Those killed were M. F. Snipes, 62, of East St. Louis, the switchman and Rochelle Wheeler 32, of Washington, Ill., the trucker.

Divorced First Wife of Meredith, Stage, Screen Star, Commits Suicide

New York, April 13—(AP)—Helen Derby, 34, divorced first wife of Burgess Meredith, stage and screen actor, was found dead in the gas-filled kitchen of her Washington Square apartment today.

Police said she had written a will on a calendar pad.

She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Derby of Montclair, N. J. Her father is president and a director of the American Cyanamid & Chemical Corporation and an officer of several other firms.

Miss Derby and Meredith were divorced in 1935.

Her body, fully clothed, was found on the floor by Ruth Ringheim, governess for Miss Derby's 12-year-old daughter.

The semi-monthly claims against the city amounting to $4,500 were ordered paid.

No More Assets Found in Estate of Lynden Smith

Springfield, Ill., April 13—(AP)—Attorney General John E. Cassidy's office today announced that inheritance tax agents had completed an investigation of the estate of F. Lynden Smith, state public works director who was found dead in a hospital bathtub March 9.

The statement said "there are no assets in addition" to those reported March 28 when Attorney General Cassidy listed Smith's assets and disclosed that the Illinois Democratic leader owed $17,381.10 in party campaign funds that were deposited in his Pontiac lumber company account.

Officers in Livingston county court listed Smith's estate at more than $90,000.

All of Smith's records that were studied by inheritance tax investigators are now in the custody of estate administrator, the statement said. Cassidy was absent from his office when his secretary issued the statement.

Schenectady, N. Y., April 13—(AP)—Members of Phi Delta Theta fraternity at Union college, rallying to the aid of a "brother" who lacked a date for the junior prom, chipped in for a 35-cent classified ad in a newspaper to get him one.

Within an hour after the paper appeared on the street, 25 girls applied.

See Roosevelt Waiting Until After G. O. P. Convention to Talk of Third Term

Washington, April 13—(AP)—Usually reliable sources predicted today that President Roosevelt would withhold any statement regarding a third term until after the Republican convention June 24.

Two administration senators, who declined to be quoted by name, said they had heard from presidential advisors that Roosevelt wanted to study the Republican nominees and platform before announcing his own intentions.

These Senators observed that the Democratic convention had been delayed until after the Republican meeting at Philadelphia in order to give the Democrats any strategic advantage which might be gained from keeping the opposition guessing. This strategy, they added

Many Ways to Plan Attractive Bookshelves

Books, to be most useful in a home, should be easily available. In placing them within convenient reach you may add to the beauty of the interior since books can be good-looking. Book may be stored in floor bookcases, hanging shelves, recessed bookshelves, bookstands and book racks. Recessed shelves may be placed in many parts of the home.

Tall and narrow shelves may be placed on each side of a wide window or fireplace. The sides of a deep set window offer space for a few books close to a window seat. Appropriate for the living room are the low bookshelves which, while movable, have the appearance of built-in fixtures. They may be placed along one side of the room or may occupy the space between two doors or windows. If the same wood is stained or painted to correspond with the wood trim of the room, it becomes an architectural part of the interior.

In estimating shelf space, count ten books to a foot and allow plenty of extra room for expansion. Remember too, that low bookshelves in a small room make the interior appear larger, and bookshelves which extend to the ceiling or cornice always give added dignity. It is advisable to allow at least four inches between the bottom shelf and the floor for ease in house cleaning.

Most books will fit into shelves nine inches apart, but by allowing ten inches for the lowest shelf, extra sized volumes will be accommodated. Adjustable shelves held up by metal brackets or pins stuck into holes in the woodwork offer great advantages in suiting themselves to books of varying size. For ease in cleaning and appearance a glazed finish is advisable.

DECORATING HINTS FOR YOUR HOME

Practical Color Scheme

A color scheme necessarily practical for a living room in which small children play, combines blue walls with draperies and rug raisin in color. The rug may be a two-toned fern pattern and the draperies striped material. Use a flowered linen slip cover on the davenport, cover the easy chair in wine colored linen and the extra chair in golden yellow. Sheer net glass curtains may be used to admit sun and light.

To Make Room Appear Smaller

If your house seems too large and rather empty, rich deep colors in room decoration will help to draw it together. Paint or wallpaper the walls a rich color and use warm accents of brighter hues. A deep bright color lowers ceilings.

Dry Finish Construction Winning Popularity

The low-cost housing movement is giving new impetus to the dry-finish method of home construction. In one group of 15 houses recently completed by different owners in a new subdivision, more than one-half inside walls finished with insulating color panels, plywood and similar products.

The dry-type construction is said to save time, labor and material. The panels used—many of which come in pastel tints — not only form the walls but also decorate the interior in a single operation. The panels come finished in attractive pastel shades of ivory, wheat, sky blue and other colors.

Modern stokers are equipped with timing devices which keep the fire alive on mild days when the room thermostat does not call for heat. These devices periodically supply enough coal to keep a small "pilot" fire going. Then, when more heat is desired, the thermostat allows the stoker mechanism to start until the desired room temperature is reached.

During cloudy months, the effect of outdoors can be brought inside the home by using colors such as sky blue, apple green and wheat on interior walls. These and other tints are available on modern insulating color panels.

Doors Part of Walls

Make your interior doors a part of the wall! Decorators are trying the trick of covering doors with the same material used on the walls. In the dining room of one new home, blue insulation panels are used on doors, walls and ceiling. With a blue carpeting on the floor, the monotone effect is complete.

HERE'S A CONCRETE HOUSE THAT IS PLANNED FOR MODERN LIVING

Build this house of concrete masonry units, dress it in summer with cool green shutters and change them, if you like, to bright cheery red ones in winter, plant a little garden of old-fashioned flowers, and begin to really live. Everything about the place is planned to make that possible.

To begin with, the concrete construction provides the utmost in security, safety, and economy. Sturdily built, fire safe, termite-proof, capable of combating extremes in weather, and boasting non-sagging and non-breaking floors, its upkeep is exceedingly low.

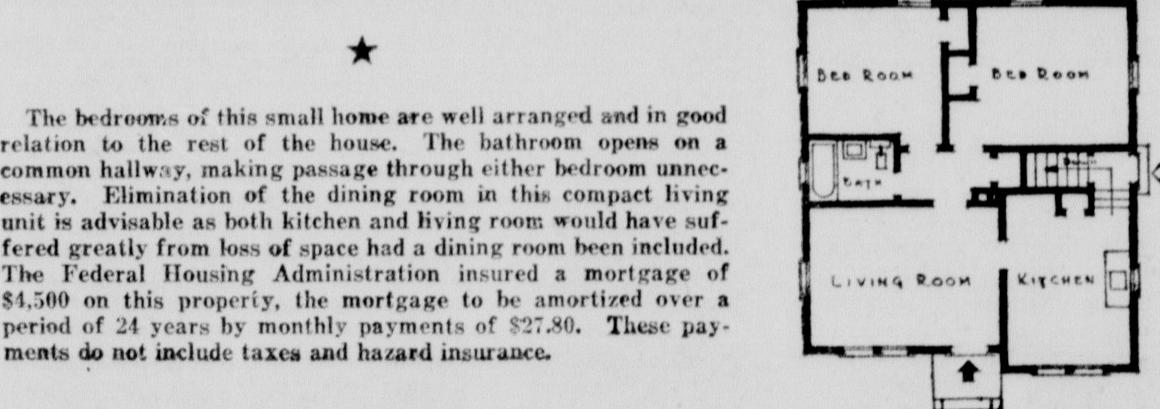

The floor plan provides ample space for real living, yet there's nothing bulky about it. It's very compact. The first floor accommodates the living room, dining

DIGNITY, QUIETNESS LEND CHARMING BACKGROUND

A background of dignity and quietness in this master bedroom has been achieved through the use of unusual decorative treatment. The walls are in smooth ivory color to harmonize with the 18th century English furniture and decorations. A pale blue tinted ceiling combines admirably with the blue chippendale patterned material used for the over-curtains and spreads. The old rose shade of the striped arm chair and dressing table skirt give an interesting contrast.

$27.80 Per Month To Own

The bedrooms of this small home are well arranged and in good relation to the rest of the house. The bathroom opens on a common hallway, making passage through either bedroom unnecessary. Elimination of the dining room in this compact living unit is advisable as both kitchen and living room would have suffered greatly from loss of space had a dining room been included. The Federal Housing Administration insured a mortgage of $4,500 on this property, the mortgage to be amortized over a period of 24 years by monthly payments of $27.80. These payments do not include taxes and hazard insurance.

TODAY'S HOMES ARE COMPACT

Housing in America has followed definite style cycles. For a long period Americans built either a one or two-story house. Since 1930 the story and one-half style, which was popular in the very early Colonial days, is returning in great numbers. Its return is dictated by the desire to obtain second floor rooms without the full cost of a two story house. Then, today's home is much more compact and the story-and-one-half home blends well in almost every setting. This type of home is a good middle-of-the-road arrangement for families who must watch their building budgets and want additional room space and good design. The story-and-one-half house was developed in two early Colonial centers... Cape Cod and Southern Virginia. The particular type illustrated above is a contraction of the Southern Virginia type. Information regarding this plan may be secured from your local lumber dealer or the National Lumber Manufacturers Ass'n, 1337 Connecticut Ave., Washington, D. C.

The Hall of Fame building is located in University Heights, New York City.

GEORGE WASHINGTON SAID:

"Excessive partiality for one foreign nation and excessive dislike of another cause those whom they actuate to see danger only on one side, and serve to veil and even second the arts of influence on the other. Real patriots who may resist the intrigues of the favorite are liable to become suspected and odious, while its tools and dupes usurp the applause and confidence of the people to surrender their interests." From the Farewell Address.

Spanish Balance Sheet

Surely when three-quarters of a million human beings have poured out their lives in bringing about a certain result, the world may be pardoned an inquiry as to just what was that result.

It is not quite one year ago that General Franco of Spain mounted the steps of Santa Barbara Cathedral in Madrid and handed his sword to Cardinal Goma y Tomas. He was master of Spain. The dead were dead. The civil war was ended.

The republic, with all its dissensions, its political turmoil, its disorders, was dead. Franco was free to begin establishing his state.

A year has passed. Here are the leading accomplishments:

There is order.

More than a half million adherents or suspected adherents of the republic are in prison.

Much reconstruction of war's ravages has been accomplished many of the 12,000 destroyed Madrid buildings have been replaced.

The grandees have their lands back, the Jesuits have been returned to their former position. The traditional religion of Spain has been restored to its ancient place.

A British credit of $10,000,000 and 250,000 bales of American cotton on credit are helping to restore business, though food is scarce and prices are high.

Business is under complete control of the government. No factory may build an addition, nor a peseta's worth of goods may be imported, without government permits. Prices are fixed by the government.

The Falange, Fascist organization behind Franco, has instituted a regime which throughout is very like that of Italy, including dreams of empire. Even in the far Philippines, there is evidence of this effort to propagate the Falangist system.

How long it will take Spain to get its broken transport system, its shattered economics, back to where they were four years ago, it is hard to say.

YESTERDAY: When Val is washed overboard, Eddie plunges in after her. He fights his way to the gunwale, strips and a bullet is put out to save them. Back on the ship, Eddie awakes, finds Duffy and Grimes anxiously watching him. The girl is all right, Grimes explains.

CHAPTER XV
POP GRIMES breathed a sigh of relief next morning when Eddie slid his feet out of bed, grinned and inhaled deeply.

"Looks like the storm's over," he observed, nodding toward the porthole.

"Yeah! I'm sure glad," said Pop. "And I'm also plenty glad you didn't take cold or anything. Can't have you going into that ring next week on crutches."

"Where's Duffy?" Eddie asked, looking around. They were alone in the crew's quarters.

"It's almost noon. They wanted you to sleep it out and you sure did just that. You've been poundin' your ear for a good 14 hours."

"Say, Pop . . . uh . . ."

"Yeah, she snapped out of it too, if that's what you're tryin' to say. She's still in bed, though . . . an' she sent word she'd like to see you just as soon's you got up and had somethin' to eat."

"EDDIE got into his clothes and went straight to her cabin. She lay propped up against a couple of pillows when he entered.

They looked at each other. His look was a little challenging, and perhaps a bit reproachful.

She motioned to a chair. "Please sit down," she said in a low voice.

"I'll stand."

"No," she said firmly. "Sit down. I can talk to you better that way."

"About what?"

He sat down, facing her.

"About what a dunce I was for slapping you last night."

"Oh . . . that?"

"It's awfully inadequate to tell you I'm sorry . . . and it's just as inadequate to thank you for saying me life."

She extended her hand. "But won't you let me try?"

He took her hand in his. It was the first time he had ever touched her in more than a casual, accidental fashion. He wondered why he got the sudden electric shock.

She was surprised. "Why, I told

The less tangible results of the bitter civil war will be considered gains by some, losses by others. As Americans, it is also impossible for us to judge. What comes to the American mind is not so much "Is this good?" as "Was this really necessary?"

What might be learned is a lesson against intolerance. Because two opposing factions in Spain's life could not, or would not, adjust themselves to one another in a workable manner, 750,000 men and women are dead. And the long, painful climb back toward a life of peace, toleration, and security for all is just beginning.

The Spanish civil war, like all wars, settled nothing. Only as good-will grows again in the Spanish earth will a life that is really better begin its slow return.

Cancer Can't Be Postponed

In general, we Americans are a bunch of procrastinators, postponers, delayers, malingeringers and disciples of manana. We put off until tomorrow what we should do today. In most instances, we eventually do accomplish our objectives. We get our income tax returns in the proper hands on March 14. We pay our insurance premium on the last day of grace, and our light bill on the day the discount privilege expires. We buy our automobile licenses when the law starts to crack down, and we do our Christmas shopping on December 24.

When war starts in Europe we think seriously of rejuvenating our own national defense. Then we've accumulated two-thirds of the supply of the world's gold we start to worry over the outcome. We carry out the furnace ashes the night before the city ash truck is due. We order coal after we've chased the last forlorn lump into a corner, and we pay the coal dealer for last winter's supply after the first frost of the following autumn. And lo, Franklin Delano's name leads all the rest, in the category of the dilly daller.

There are many persons, of course, on whose feet the boots of the laggard don't fit. But, in general, we Americans must admit the truth: We're a bunch of procrastinators.

In one field, however, there is improvement. That is in the circumstances which govern our health. Particularly, we refer to the control of cancer.

Dr. M. Fernan-Nunez, professor of pathology at Marquette university, in the Wisconsin Medical Journal, cites statistics showing that the percentage of cancer cases reaching hospitals in incurable stages grows smaller and smaller. To put it more concisely, medical science is getting its chance to cure cancer because cancer victims seek aid earlier.

This is the key to the fight against cancer: In the beginning, cancer is only a "spot" somewhere in the body. If the person who suspects he may have a cancerous condition postpones his visit to the doctor too long, it may be too late. In this important field, at least, the procrastinating American should realize that early treatment is his only salvation.

In this month of April, a campaign is being waged throughout the country against cancer—our second largest health problem. Each year it takes 150,000 lives in the United States. If the American people could become keenly alive to the dangers of any strange growth in or on the body, just as they have become alive to the need of fresh air, wholesome food and rest, and if they would report such things early, then medical science could reduce the cancer toll as it has abated the menace of tuberculosis.

The peculiar diplomatic relationship which has been permitted to grow up between the United States and Mexico is evident in the fact that Hull has privately expressed gratification that his last note was published by the Mexican papers. When an American secretary of state must find gratification at such a common and small courtesy, you may well comprehend the extent to which radical Mexico is following the Hitler-Stalin tactics.

Such American patience with an obstreperous neighbor is founded upon the knowledge that stronger tactics might have reverberations down to Cape Horn, a situation which Mexico has played to the utmost.

Several congressional resolutions for an investigation to ascertain if American rights have been violated by Mexico (particularly the Hemings resolution calling for a special committee of five) are being held in abeyance in accordance with state department wishes to ascertain if Hull's patience is justified by immediate coming events.

Senator Vandenberg will not retire from the Republican race. His jockeys have been figuring the past performance sheet in the clubhouse and have emerged not only firm in their determination to continue but rather confident of ultimately obtaining the nomination.

Their not unsound reasoning is that the contest is heading into a straight tussle between young Tom Dewey, the wonder boy, and Senator Taft, with neither now able to count a majority on the first few ballots. If this situation continues until convention time the Vandenberg people figure their chance to become the compromise choice is better than anyone else now enjoys.

Vanderbergers are planning a more active campaign for the state convention delegates than they attempted in the primaries.

Sam stopped his pacing. "I ask you—could I help it, boys? Is it my fault that crazy Duffy Kelso decides he wants to become a sailor all of a sudden? Is it my fault this dame falls overboard?" Here, Kenny, have another drink.

"Don't I know it," said Sam. "And then dreamily: 'But already I ain't got 300 seats left in the joint. And they ain't coming to see Massini.'"

A couple news hounds sitting on his desk snorted. The telephone rang and one of them answered. "For you, Sam," he said.

Sam took it. The party at the other end had spoken only a half dozen words when Sam Golden went white as a sheet.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

Washington, April 12—Latin America is excited at Hitler's latest demonstration of the ease with which an aggressor can bowl over small neutrals even under the bow of the greatest fleet in the world.

Confidential inquiries have been made by the Latins at the state department, about purchasing second-line or reserve cruisers, destroyers and other defensive naval equipment.

Whether or not any sales are worked out, the Hitler move has had the effect of solidifying southern interest in the hemisphere defense system and may open the way for some new political and economic arrangements as well.

One southern spot, however, is worrying the department deeply.

The firmness of Secretary Hull's note to Mexico and subsequent displeasure manifest here at Mexico's refusal to arbitrate the oil controversy reflect increasing inner apprehensions over Mexico's expanding international radicalism.

Chairman Dies of the house investigating committee has obtained private information that Mexico has offered refuge to thousands of Spanish and French communists, kicked out of their own countries. His information has been partly confirmed through official channels.

In view of the pro-communist nazi tendency already exhibited by the Mexican government in its efforts to sell seized oil from American properties to Hitler, our diplomats are looking carefully for every piece of inside news from south of the Rio Grande.

Homer Cummings, the ex-attorney general, is being promoted by some Rooseveltian officials for the keynote job of temporary chairman at the Democratic convention. They figure he would keep the anti-third termers from walking out until after his speech at least.

Miss Fitzpatrick
Becomes Bride of
Albert Koehler

The bride's mother was at the organ for the nuptial mass and sang the Rosewig Ave Maria for offertory, when Miss Loyola M. Fitzpatrick, eldest daughter of the Theodore F. Fitzpatricks of Harmon, exchanged vows with Albert G. Koehler, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Koehler of Dixon, before the altar of St. Flannan's Catholic church at Harmon this morning. The Rev. Father D. A. Murphy celebrated the mass at 8 o'clock.

White lilies and carnations, ferns, and lighted tapers decorated the altar for the ceremony. Miss Naomi Woll of Dixon was at the organ for the nuptial prelude, playing "Because" and "I Love You, Truly." Members of St. Flannan's choir sang Leonard's Mass in F, accompanied by Mrs. Fitzpatrick.

The Lohengrin wedding march was the signal for the entrance of the bridal party. Miss Regina Fitzpatrick was her sister's maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were the Misses Mary Fitzpatrick of Peoria and Patricia Fitzpatrick of Walton, cousins of the bride.

John Koehler came from Minneapolis to see his brother as best man. Ushers were Othmar Lauer of Oregon, who is a cousin of the bride, and the bridegroom's cousin, Frank Stephanich of Sublette.

The bride, who walked with her father, wore a princess gown of white satin, with long sleeves extending in pointed lace cuffs, sweethearts neckline, finished with a high lace collar in back. Her long tulle veil was held in place by orange blossoms. Her pearl necklace was a gift from the bridegroom, and she carried an arm bouquet of white roses and valentine lilies.

The maid of honor was wearing pink chiffon, with a small pink hat, trimmed with blue flowers, and carried a colonial bouquet of sweetpeas. The bridesmaids were dressed alike in blue chiffon, and wore small blue hats trimmed with pink flowers. Their colonial bouquets contained pink sweetpeas.

A wedding breakfast was served for 50 guests at the home of the bride's parents. Appointments reflected the bride's chosen colors, pink and blue. A miniature bridal pair topped the three-tiered bride's cake.

Afterward, Mr. Koehler and his bride left on a week's wedding trip. When they return, they will be at home at 413 East Graham.

The bride has been employed at the Illinois Northern Utilities company about three years. Mr. Koehler is assisting with construction work at the Medusa Cement company.

Summer Round-Up Clinic Will Get Underway, Soon

Dixon Parent-Teacher associations, co-operating with local school authorities, physicians and dentists, are completing arrangements for the annual Summer Round-Up clinic, a project planned to give all children the opportunity to enter school in the best physical condition.

Both public and parochial districts are included, and after the preliminary health examination, follow-up work will be carried on during the summer months. No child will be examined unless a parent or guardian is present.

The examination includes past medical history of the child, physical and dental inspection, and recommendation for necessary correction. The parent is given a slip which is signed by the doctor or dentist when the correction is made during the summer, and is returned to the school in the fall for full corrections.

Parents of all pre-school children are asked to co-operate with the project to further the prevention of disease, the promotion of health, and the correction of defects. The following schedule has been outlined:

April 19—Loveland and North Central districts at North Central school, 9-11 a. m.; April 23—South Central and St. Mary's districts at South Central school, 9-11 a. m., and 1-3 p. m.; April 25—St. Mary's and Lincoln districts at Lincoln school, 9-11 a. m. and 1-3 p. m.

A special invitation is extended to newcomers to the city, having children who will enter the primary grade in the fall.

London, April 13—(AP)—A Reuters (British News Agency) dispatch from Stockholm today said crew members of the Swedish steamer Boden reported that three German destroyers were sunk by the British in Wednesday morning's bitter battle in Narvik fjord.

The 4,625-ton Boden was in Narvik at the time, when five British destroyers raced in to engage six German destroyers.

The Swedish seamen were quoted as saying that 15 cargo ships, British, Swedish, Norwegian and German, including the Boden herself, were sunk during the battle. They said the Germans seized their lifeboats to rescue the crews of the sinking German destroyers.

(The British have admitted loss of two of their destroyers in the Narvik battle and said they sank one of the German ships and left others helpless and in flames. The Germans said they sank four of the British. Reuters did not say how the Boden's version reached Stockholm.)

(By The Associated Press)
British struck anew from the air today in an effort to blast away German footholds in Norway.

Raiders bombed the German-held airfield at Stavanger, southwestern Norway this morning, a London announcement said, "and it is believed that extensive damage was done to a hangar and an aircraft on which mechanics were seen working."

A German fighter was reported shot down in flames.

Bombers, introduced in America in 1849, were named after Mrs. Amelia Jenks Bloomer.

Her Heart Taken Out and Mended

Accidentally shot through the heart, Mrs. Eloise Edralin (above) of New York, was pulled back from death's door by a tiny bit of silk thread—and the skill of Dr. William A. Fraser. Dr. Fraser cut away ribs, reached into the chest cavity, brought her punctured heart out. Three deft stitches closed the wound. Eleven days later, Mrs. Edralin was well on the road to recovery.

German reports said the invaders were tightening their grip on the country, with continued troop arrivals to reinforce the expeditionary forces and the taking over by German crews of Norwegian vessels found in seized harbors.

German staffmen and aircraft personnel killed or injured and airplanes destroyed in an attack at Kristiansand, southern Norway.

A German flying boat damaged and a German destroyer raked with machine-gun fire by a British bomber over the North sea.

Announcements Conflict

Conflicting German and British announcements hid the price paid on each side for the furious fighting.

The British said one of their planes in the Bergen raid made a forced landing, while eight of their aircraft were shot down, two made forced landings and four German warplanes were downed in the Kristiansand raid.

German accounts made no mention of a Kristiansand attack but said 10 British planes were shot down at Bergen while the Germans lost two. They also said one British airplane was downed at Narvik northern Norway, and one at Stavanger.

German reports said the invaders were tightening their grip on the country, with continued troop arrivals to reinforce the expeditionary forces and the taking over by German crews of Norwegian vessels found in seized harbors.

There was no explanation of how reinforcements were reaching Norway since the British mined the sea lanes between Germany and Scandinavia.

Some troops however already were known to have been flown to the northern Kingdom.

Norwegian resistance to German invasion appeared to be stiffening as Britain relying heavily on her air force bent every effort to bottle up the Nazi fleet and isolate the expeditionary force which Adolf Hitler's military chieftains have landed in Norway.

Although the Germans were reported to have strengthened their position around Oslo there were indications that the Norwegians were establishing a defense line and mapping guerilla tactics to harass the invaders.

Sweden, meanwhile, fearful of involvement in the widening conflict, made urgent preparations to fight if necessary to defend her neutrality. Airfields were blocked off to prevent airplanes from landing, bomb-proof shelters were constructed hastily and the nation's resources were mobilized for war.

Balkan Anxiety Grows

In southeastern Europe anxiety lest the war spread in that direction was increased when Rumania suspended the loading of freight cars for Germany, preliminary to imposing an embargo on the export of goods needed for her own use.

The action was taken in retaliation for a similar embargo which Germany had imposed on exports to Rumania, but Balkan capitals expressed belief the move might provoke the Nazi wrath.

Evidently that the naval warfare which marked the first phase of the German invasion of Norway was shifting to the air was given by the latest communiques of both the British and German high commands.

There was no indication that the British raids, which were concentrated in the vicinity of Kristiansand, Stavanger and Narvik, had resulted in any further German naval losses.

Denmark apparently had resigned herself completely to the German occupation. Hundreds of foreigners, including many Americans, who were trapped in Denmark by the swift Nazi invasion, were making frantic efforts to leave the country.

Many Seek U. S. Aid

Most of those turned to the United States legation for aid as the British, French and Polish ministers departed en route for the neutral Netherlands.

Telegraphic communication between Denmark and Neutral countries via Germany was resumed, but telephone communication was prohibited and means of transportation were limited.

A flurry of activity broke out on the western front, where German troops attempted to raid an island in the Rhine river. The Germans approached the island in boats under cover of darkness, but were driven off by machine-guns fire.

Artillery exchanges and increased aerial reconnaissance also were noted in western front dispatches.

Swedish Press Criticized

In Berlin, criticism was leveled at the Swedish press and radio for "arousing spirit of opposition in Norway", but authorized sources said the Swedish government had given assurances it was not responsible.

The same sources expressed continued hope that an understanding might yet be reached with King Haakon of Norway and minimized the importance of minefields which the British navy had laid in an attempt to cut Germany off from the North sea.

HOPE HISTORY REPEATS

(By The Associated Press)

Washington—The Senators are hoping history repeats; a few years ago the Brooklyn Dodgers turned loose Dutch Leonard, who came to Washington and became a 20-game winner. Now the Nats have acquired Al Hollingsworth, another hurler the Dodgers couldn't see.

SET FOR DEBUT

Boston—Dom DiMaggio, just about the most talked of rookie of 1940, was set to make his debut before Boston fans today as the Red Sox and Bees opened their city series. The Bees also had some presentations to make—Bob Loane, Chet Ross and Nick Stinchfield.

SOX VS. CUBS

Chicago—The Cubs and White Sox were ready to tangle before the home folks today for the first time this season if the weather man could be lured into agreement. Snow and low temperatures forced out their scheduled start yesterday. Bill Lee of the Cubs and Edgar Smith of the White Sox were on call for pitching duty.

Slow Golfers Are Rapped by Gene Sarazen

Chicago, April 13—(AP)—Slow-playing golfers are the bane of Mr. Gene Sarazen's life on the fairways.

BOWLING LEAGUE ENDS SEASON IN BRILLIANT SHOW

Hanson's Stars and Blatz Wind Up As Runners-up Here Last Night

Furnishing up-to-the-last-pin thrills, the Major League bowlers concluded their season at the Dixon Recreation last night in a dog-fight which centered around second place.

The pace-setting Crystal Barbers were already in first place with the Coca Cola five almost a cinch to capture the runnerup position. But that isn't the way it worked out last night. The soft drink boys dropped three games the Blatz team and fell into a tie for fourth place with the Chauffeurs while Hanson's Stars won three games to share a tie for second with the Blatz club.

Another high spot in the evening was Ed Worley's brilliant 680 series which he rolled to pace his Crystal Barber mates to a three-game victory over Plum Hollow.

Bubrick led his Chauffeur mates in their three game victory over the Medusa team with a 524 series while Moore's 480 paced the white dust men.

Smith Faces Stars

Smith's 574 series paced the Hanson's Stars in their climb to the second place tie by snagging three games from the Dixon Paint store. The losers were led by Daschbach with a 536 count.

As the Crystal Barbers won three games from the Plum Hollow team the losers were led by Randall who spilled the pins for 487. Worley's 680 was high for the winners.

In the Blatz three-game win the 536 series of Krug was tops while Schertner's 490 paced the Coca Cola lads.

Battle Planes Enter the Picture of Modern War at Sea

A new—and perhaps vital—element is present in today's sea battles that naval strategists of the World War did not have to contend with. The new factor is the fighting plane, dropping bombs which may prove more deadly to battleships than the foe's gunfire. The artist's conception, above, where squadrons of bombers have been superimposed upon a painting of the World War Battle of Jutland, gives you a preview of a modern major naval engagement.

Hear That Squeal of Brakes?

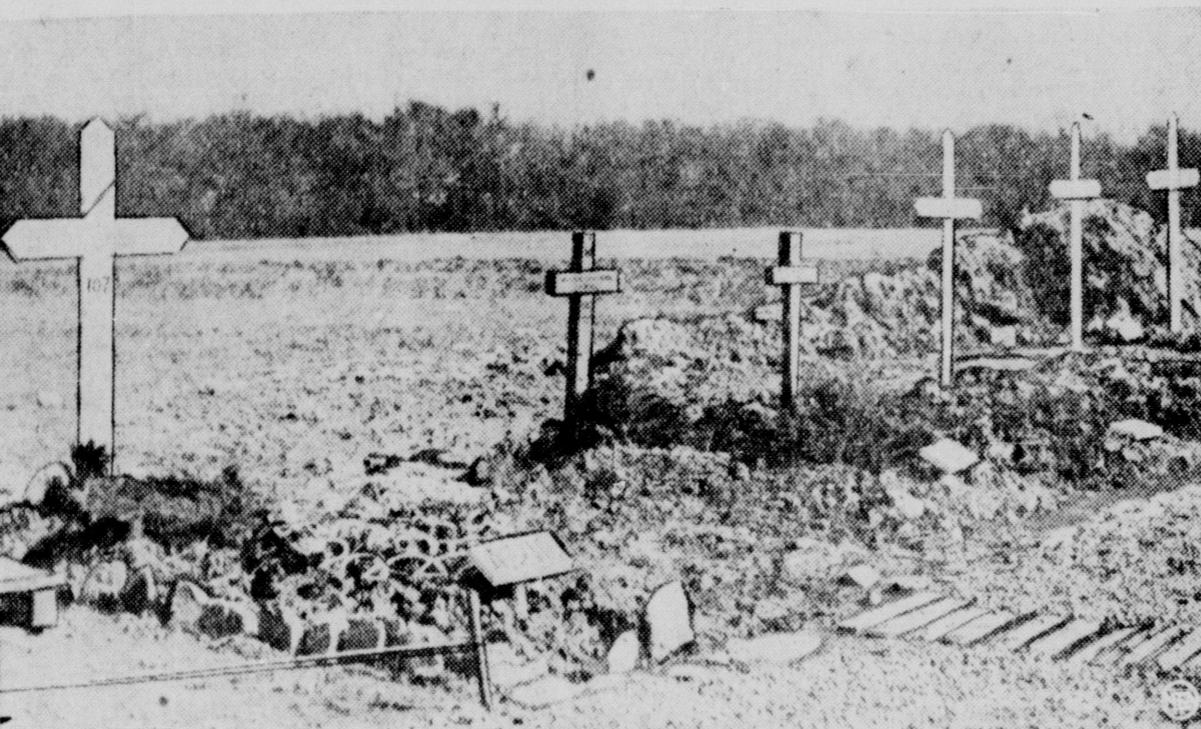

Could you resist the appealing look Winston Hill, University of California coed from Los Angeles, demonstrates above? It's the latest thing in costume and technique for hitch hikers. Miss Hill hopes it will win her a place on her alma mater's hitch hiking team, which will race from Berkley, Cal., to Seattle, Wash., against other college lift-thumbing teams.

Cast Off, Sailor, Anchors Aweigh!

Well, you know how it is. When a gob's shoving off for six weeks of maneuvers in the Pacific, you almost need the Marine M. P.'s to break up that parting clinch. So you can't blame these Navy couplies at San Pedro, Cal., for making the most of their last moments together before the fleet ups anchors.

Grim Growths in the Fields of France

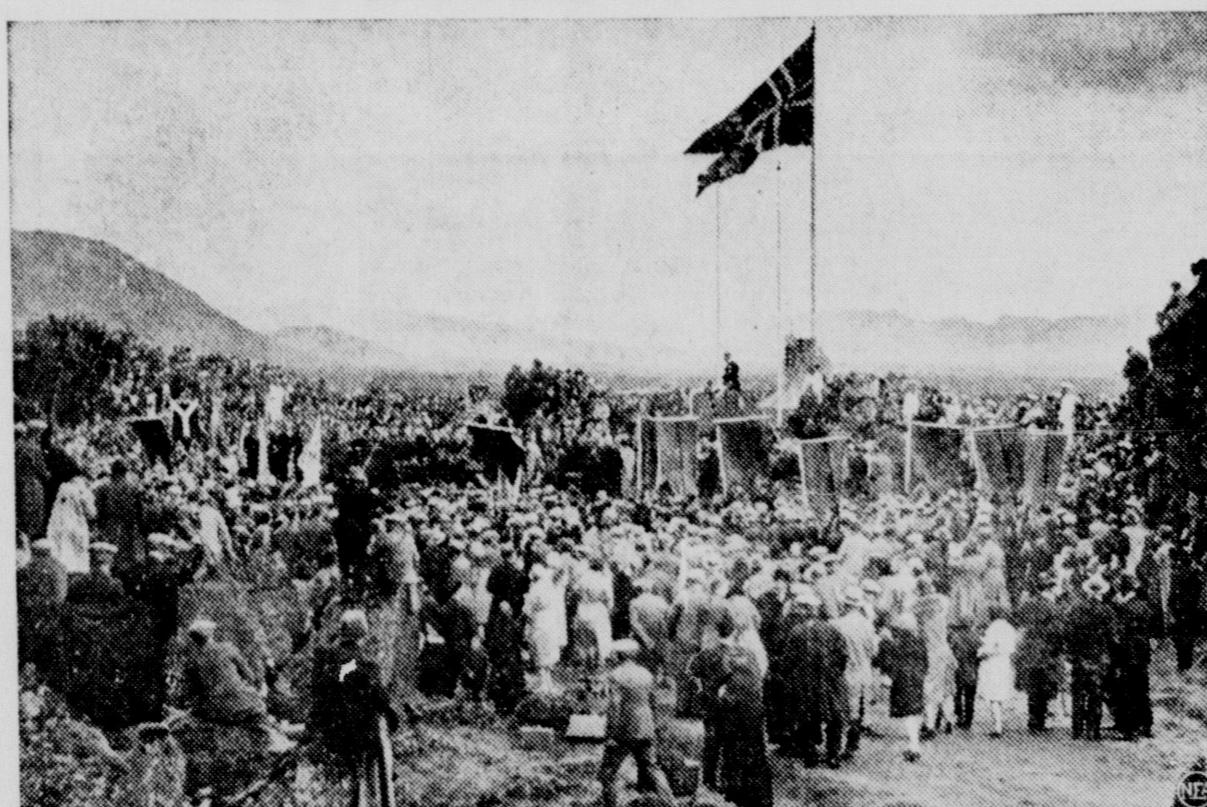

With many an acre of France thickly forested by the crosses on graves of World War dead, a new crop of the grim symbols is sprouting over graves of Allied soldiers killed in the present conflict. White crosses, above, mark resting places of French soldiers who died in recent fighting; the small dark ones are the graves of British troops.

Iceland Severs Last Tie With Denmark

Peace was sheltered among the rocks and hills of picturesque Iceland when King Christian of Denmark opened a session of the Althing, the world's oldest parliamentary body. To keep this peace, a cherished heritage of 1010 years, the Althing has now declared Iceland's virtual independence from Denmark, on the grounds that King Christian is now unable to exercise his powers in office.

These Twins Are Not Rude—It's All Very Scientific

Sticking out their tongues like that, these three sets of twins may seem pretty rude. But they're not. Tongue-rolling twins above are, left to right: Elsie and Elvie Acord; Doris and Dorothy Blank and Pearl and Nell Spencer.

Nazis Claim They're Welcome

Man-hater's Mind Changed by-Man

Marian Phillips (above), a University of Michigan coed, once gained wide fame for an article: "83 Reasons Why I Hate Men." But where's the woman who won't change her mind? Recently she eloped with Einar Almdale, Michigan U. senior.

The document pictured above bars U. S. shipping out of European waters from inside the Arctic Circle down to Spain. Signed by the President and Secretary of State Hull, it is the extension of the neutrality act combat zone area to include Scandinavia and Russian Arctic ports.
